Good afternoon,

We have concerns regarding adding an additional unit to our quad. Our quads do not support another unit with the limited space. They are not built to accommodate an additional unit. This poses additional risks and we do not support this notion. We would like to be apart of this meeting if necessary and authorize the post of our correspondence. We already have other issues within our quads that we are struggling to manage.

We are sorry this email comes late as we were away and had not received the notice in time.
