  2. During the site inspections, the majority of the pedestrians were adults/secondary school students and there was one family with two elementary students that crossed. One adult rode their bike across the intersection. There were no conflicts between pedestrians and vehicles and there was sufficient time for pedestrians to cross.
  3. Two motorists stopped abruptly on Wanless Drive and reversed.
  4. The intersection of Wanless Drive and Thornbush Boulevard is a signalized intersection with pedestrian push buttons and enhanced pavement markings.
  5. During the site inspections, only a few pedestrians were observed and there was no conflict with vehicles. All pedestrians had sufficient time to cross the roadway.
