

From: pam patel [REDACTED]
Sent: 2025/07/31 1:35 PM
To: City Clerks Office <City.ClerksOffice@brampton.ca>
Subject: [EXTERNAL]Subject: Resident Concerns Over Speed Enforcement, Parking Bylaws, and Public Accessibility to Council Decisions

Hello,

I am writing to express serious concern — shared by many Brampton residents — over a number of recent changes and decisions made by the City that feel out of touch with the day-to-day realities of those who live and work here. While we understand the need for structure, safety, and community investment, the way certain bylaws and budget priorities are being handled has left many feeling frustrated and unheard.

1. Overuse of Speed Cameras and Confusing Speed Limit Changes

Speed enforcement cameras have been placed across the city, often in areas where speed limits drop abruptly from 50 km/h to 40 km/h and back again within short distances. Many residents see this as a trap designed to generate revenue rather than improve safety. The lack of consistent signage and logical speed zoning has only added to this frustration. This approach does not build trust — it creates resentment.

2. Unreasonable Parking Enforcement — Even on Private Property

Residents are now being ticketed for parking on streets they were allowed to use in previous summers — despite there being no snow or operational need to restrict parking. Even more concerning is the recent crackdown on residents parking on their own driveways, where their vehicle may slightly encroach on the walkway. These are private properties. Many driveways in Brampton are not built for modern-sized vehicles, and people have parked this way out of necessity for years without issue. Suddenly penalizing this feels excessive and out of step with common sense.

3. Council Meetings During Working Hours Limit Public Participation

City Council meetings are scheduled during normal working hours, making it almost impossible for working residents to attend or engage. This makes meaningful civic participation extremely difficult — especially when bylaws that affect residents' daily lives are being passed with little awareness. Most people are busy working to afford living in a city that is already becoming increasingly unaffordable. They simply don't have time to monitor every agenda item or navigate a complicated civic process. Meetings should be held during evenings or weekends to allow more people to participate.

4. Misaligned Spending That Ignores the Needs of Most Residents

There's a growing concern that the City is spending taxpayer dollars on projects and programs that primarily benefit niche groups — such as retirees or smaller special interest segments — while ignoring the needs of working families, young adults, and renters. In a time when affordability is a major issue and basic services are under pressure, it feels irresponsible to allocate funds toward initiatives that don't reflect the current economic and social priorities of the broader population. Residents are asking: where is the investment in affordability, transit, infrastructure, or housing that helps everyday working people?

In summary, residents are asking for fairness, transparency, and common sense in how the City operates. I strongly urge Brampton Council and City staff to:

- Re-evaluate the purpose and placement of speed cameras and inconsistent speed limits
- Review and adjust unreasonable parking restrictions, especially on private property
- Make Council meetings more accessible for working residents by moving them to evenings or weekends
- Reassess spending priorities to ensure taxpayer funds are going toward services that benefit the majority of residents

Thank you for taking the time to consider these concerns. I respectfully request a formal response outlining whether the City plans to review these issues and how it will involve the public in those decisions moving forward.

Please confirm receipt.

thanks