Dear Mayor and Council,

As the Member of Provincial Parliament for Brampton West, it is my pleasure to support the potential relocation of the University of Guelph-Humber (UofGH) to the City of Brampton. This new campus will play a vital role in continuing the ongoing regeneration of Brampton's downtown core, as well as supporting local businesses and addressing Brampton's labour market needs.

Brampton is a major centre for employment with a growing population and we are pleased that the City is committed to expanding post-secondary options. Any expanded post-secondary options should make sense for Brampton's residents and businesses. Relocating the University of Guelph-Humber to Brampton makes sense. The university's programming would complement existing local programming and meet the diverse needs of Brampton learners by increasing the breadth of credentials and programming available, creating more choices, closer to home for students living in Brampton.

The University of Guelph-Humber's programs will focus on making students career-ready and providing the highest quality of Work-Integrated Learning experiences, with strong employer partnerships in Brampton and beyond. As our city rapidly expands and continues to flourish, we will need a core pipeline of students who can train and then work close to home. To that end, UofGH has advised that they will develop new undergraduate programs that address the current and future workforce needs of Brampton, Peel and Ontario as a whole, including STEM programs such as Computer Engineering, life sciences, food, nutrition, and public health. I have also been advised that the university will also offer professional master's degrees which could be attractive to international as well as domestic students looking to advance their careers. And finally, the university will offer micro-credentials to working professionals who need to upgrade or fill gaps in their education – a key issue we hear from businesses looking to hire talent quickly. unique credential mix would support growing labour market demands in the city and would further reinforce Brampton's reputation as a leader in education and innovation.

In addition to the benefit of enhanced programming options, UofGH already has strong ties to the City of Brampton. Approximately 40% of their students come from the Peel region. Relocating the entire campus would bring approximately 5,000 students directly into the community. This would benefit local businesses and employers as well as a significant number of students, especially those who currently undertake the commute from Peel to Etobicoke. I have been advised that the new proposed campus will be located along the City's planned downtown transit hub adding to the innovation corridor which benefits both the students and the businesses along with the planned connections. Convenient and reliable travel options play a critical role when students decide where to pursue their advanced education. The added connections and integration with local and regional transit networks will also be very appealing for those that live outside the region, not just those nearby.

Finally, in addition to working with local businesses and industry leaders, the University of Guelph-Humber will be a major employer itself, attracting talent to the city and employing residents. In this regard, UofGH has built strong connections with several local employers to ensure the local economy has the talent it needs to drive innovation and economic growth while providing students with the skills they need to be successful in the future.

As a local MPP actively engaged in my community, I wholeheartedly support the potential relocation of the University of Guelph-Humber to the City of Brampton and urge the city and council to work with UofGH to make this possibility a reality. This is a wonderful opportunity for the residents, businesses, and organizations that build up our city.

Dear Mayor and Council,

The Brampton Board of Trade is pleased to support the potential relocation of the University of Guelph-Humber (UofGH) to the City of Brampton. This new campus will play a vital role in continuing the ongoing revitalization of Brampton's downtown core, in addition to supporting local businesses and addressing Brampton's labour market needs.

Advocating for employers who provide more than 61,000 jobs in our community, the Brampton Board of Trade is our city's largest, most representative and only accredited voice of the business community. Representing all major employment sectors and with small businesses comprising more than 75% of our membership, the Brampton Board of Trade is a unique voice of the real economy. Specifically, we bring together entrepreneurs, corporations and institutions to collaborate and support a pro-growth business environment. With Sheridan, Ryerson and Algoma having made recent investments, there is no question that our post-secondary sector is one of the biggest potential catalysts of growth, and a successful relocation of UofGH would be an important contributor to that mix.

UofGH already has strong ties to Brampton with approximately 40% of their students coming from Peel. The campus will bring a total of 5,000 students to the community, many of whom are currently commuting to the current campus and would benefit tremendously from having a university with this unique mix of credentials even closer to home. In addition to the community benefits that come with welcoming another university to Brampton, student presence and industry partnerships will spur more economic growth.

We understand that The University of Guelph-Humber could be an essential component of Brampton's Centre for Innovation, serving as an anchor tenant to the building. This would, no doubt, connect students as patrons for the diverse local businesses that define Brampton's downtown core. This new campus will further reinforce Brampton's reputation as a leader in education and innovation.

Convenient and reliable travel options play a critical role when students decide where to pursue their advanced education. The proposed campus, located near the new downtown transit hub will add riders to both the GO Transit and Brampton Transit systems. The added connections and integration with local and regional transit networks will also be very appealing for those that live outside the region.

In addition to working with local businesses and industry leaders, UofGH will be a major employer itself, attracting talent to the city and employing residents. In this regard UofGH has built connections with local employers to ensure the local economy has the talent it needs to drive innovation and economic growth while providing students with the skills they need to be successful in the future.

The Brampton Board of Trade supports further discussions and negotiations that pursue this potential relocation. We encourage Council to work closely with all stakeholders to make this possibility a reality for our city and business community.

Dear Mr. Mayor and Members of Council,

Brampton Library is proud to be a part of the project to develop the Centre for Innovation (CFI) facility in downtown Brampton. This new campus will play a vital role in continuing the ongoing regeneration of Brampton's downtown core as an innovation hub and destination, as well as helping to support local businesses. Along with a new downtown city library, the CFI will include a post-secondary institution. The CFI planning team including the Library has been working with the University of Guelph-Humber (UofGH) as a potential partner throughout the design process for the project. As a result, we feel confident in saying that UofGH represents a positive and innovative collaboration that fits the vision for the Centre.

As a Library, our mission is "inspiring connections". We serve the needs of Brampton residents by connecting them to services, resources, and facilities that provide for their informational, educational, and recreational needs. In particular, the Library plays a role in connecting residents with inspiration for future careers and lifelong learning. To that end, a collaborative facility with a post-secondary institution provides an abundance of opportunities to jointly inspire connections among residents, students, and learners of all ages. In our project planning, we have found that UofGH understands this vision and is as committed to it as the Library.

As we have learned, UofGH already has strong ties to the City of Brampton with approximately 40% of their students coming from Peel. The campus will bring a total of 5,000 students to the community, many of whom are currently commuting to the current campus and would benefit tremendously from having a university with this unique mix of credentials even closer to home. In addition to the community benefits that come with having a university in Brampton, student presence and industry partnerships will spur economic growth in Brampton. That same student presence in a welcoming, accessible destination like the CFI will help all Brampton residents feel that they are part of a learning community that supports their inspiration and success from birth to old age.

A post-secondary tenant such as the University of Guelph-Humber would be an essential component of the CFI, serving as an anchor tenant to the building, sharing building facilities and services with the Library, and connecting students to many of the diverse local businesses that make up the downtown core. This new campus will further reinforce Brampton's reputation as a leader in education and innovation.

We understand that universities are integral to their communities, creating innovation and opportunities that provide students with high quality education and skills development that will give them the tools they need to (re)enter the workforce with confidence and competence. Similarly, modern public libraries are integral to the democratization of lifelong learning and to providing equitable access to resources and to inspiration. Brampton Library can accomplish this even better if it is connected to an institution like UofGH, which can serve as a showcase and an aspiration for those looking to better their education.

The new proposed CFI campus, located along the City's planned downtown transit hub, would add to the innovation corridor which benefits both the students and the businesses along the planned connections. The added connections and integration with local and regional transit networks will make the CFI a destination for local residents as well for those that live outside the region.

We wholeheartedly urge the city and council to continue to work with UofGH as this is a wonderful opportunity for the residents, businesses, and organizations that build up our city.

Sub.—University of Guelph Humber

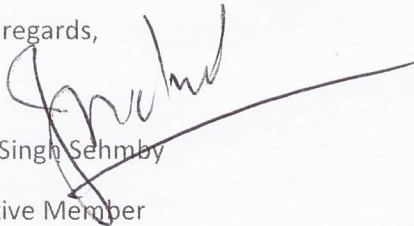

As senior members of the City of Brampton it is our honor to support the relocation of a university campus to our great city. The University of Guelph Humber will make a critical addition to the revitalization of the downtown and a great benefit to the residents, businesses, and organization of our city. We have witnessed the profound changes to the landscape of the city over the past several years. A comprehensive university campus is a fundamental building block that has been missing from that development.

We were excited to hear about the plans and participated in a very positive and lively discussion. Some of the feedback given by attendees at that information session was that the project should proceed as quickly as possible and the city should provide the supports necessary to bring U of G H to Brampton. We are also intrigued by the possibility of the campus expanding over time to have a presence in other parts of the city outside of the downtown core.

As elders in the community, we are determined to ensure Brampton gets its fair share - for future generations to enjoy the benefit of education and employment. We have certainly faced many struggles ourselves, many of us as new immigrants who came to this city and worked hard to establish roots.

We are especially supportive of the University of Guelph Humber due to their reputation of working collaboratively with community groups and thankful to them and Councilor Dhillon for engaging us in their outreach efforts. We wholeheartedly endorse their proposal to relocate the university in the City of Brampton.

Dear Mayor and Council,

It is our pleasure to support the potential relocation of the University of Guelph-Humber (UofGH) to the Peel Region in the City of Brampton. This new campus will play a vital role in continuing the ongoing regeneration of Brampton's downtown core, as well as helping to support local businesses and addressing Brampton's labour market needs.

Punjabi Community Health Services (PCHS) is a registered charity providing services to the community in the areas of health, settlement, and social services. We have been operating since July 1990. PCHS is also a Health Service Provider with the Ministry of Health. PCHS is associated with Humber College since September 1988 in a variety of capacities. As a CEO, I also taught at Humber College and PCHS supports the students by giving them an award every year. As a CEO, I was also invited to provide my input into developing a curriculum for the Addiction and Mental Health program.

Dear Mayor Brown and Brampton City Council,

We are writing to support the proposed relocation of the University of Guelph Humber to the City of Brampton. Our organization, the Ontario Gurdwaras Committee is a non-partisan representative body of individual Sikhs and Gurdwaras in Ontario. We strive to promote Sikh values and principles.

In the Sikh faith, knowledge and education are key pillars of the religion. Continuous development aims to widen the wisdom of an individual both spiritually and academically. Our religion preaches the sharing of worldly belongings and knowledge with others, especially those in need. The literal meaning of Sikh is to learn. Having a university campus like the University of Guelph Humber in Brampton will provide many students more options to learn closer to home.

We are especially supportive of the University of Guelph Humber as they understand and support the needs of our community and the students of Brampton. It would be a great benefit to the city and community of Brampton if UofGH relocated there, that is why we support this potential move.

Since 1967, DCGT has provided 24-hour support, 7 days a week, 365 days a year to individuals in our community at risk and their most vulnerable. We are Canada's oldest volunteer delivered crisis, emotional support, and suicide prevention/intervention/postvention service agency. We have been partnering with UofGH for 5+ years in the provision of student placement and volunteer opportunities to their community.

UofGH already has strong ties to the City of Brampton with approximately 40% of their students coming from Peel. The campus will bring a total of 5,000 students to the community, many of whom are currently commuting to the current campus and would benefit tremendously from having a university with this unique mix of credentials even closer to home. In addition to the community benefits that come with having a university in Brampton, student presence and industry partnerships will spur economic growth in Brampton.

The University of Guelph-Humber would also be an essential component of Brampton's Centre for Innovation, serving as an anchor tenant to the building and connecting students to many of the diverse local businesses that make up the downtown core. This new campus will further reinforce Brampton's reputation as a leader in education and innovation.

Universities are integral to their communities, creating innovation and opportunities that provide students with high quality education and skills development that will give them the tools they need to (re)enter the workforce with confidence and competence. The benefits of providing more options for post-secondary education for our residents, while contributing to a talent pipeline for local industry cannot be overstated.

The new proposed campus will be located along the City's planned downtown transit hub adding to the innovation corridor which benefits both the students and the businesses along the planned connections. Convenient and reliable travel options play a critical role when students decide where to pursue their advanced education. The added connections and integration with local and regional transit networks will also be very appealing for those that live outside the region.

In addition to working with local businesses and industry leaders, UofGH will be a major employer itself, attracting talent to the city and employing residents. In this regard, UofGH has built strong connections with several local employers to ensure the local economy has the talent it needs to drive innovation and economic growth while providing students with the skills they need to be successful in the future.

We wholeheartedly support the potential relocation of UofGH to the City of Brampton and urge the city and council to work with UofGH to make this possibility a reality. This is a wonderful opportunity for the residents, businesses, and organizations that build up our city.

Sincerely,

Dear Mayor Brown and Council,
Re: University of Guelph-Humber (UofGH)

It is our pleasure at BGC Peel (formerly Boys & Girls Club of Peel) to support the potential relocation of the University of Guelph-Humber (UofGH) to the Peel Region in the City of Brampton. This new campus will play a vital role in continuing the ongoing regeneration of Brampton's downtown core, as well as helping to support local businesses and addressing Brampton's labour market needs.

BGC Peel (Boys and Girls) is a not-for-profit, charitable organization that engages children, youth and families across the Region of Peel since 1983. Our families come from all walks of life, some are seen as at-risk children, youth and families from low-income. We provide a safe place for these individuals to participate in impactful, fun activities.

UofGH continues to have strong, well established connections to the City of Brampton with approximately 40% of their students coming from Peel. The campus will bring a total of 5,000 students to the community, many of whom are currently commuting to the current campus and would benefit tremendously from having a university with this unique mix of credentials even closer to home. OPPORTUNITY CHANGES EVERYTHING

The added connections and integration with local and regional transit networks will also be very appealing for those that live outside the region.

Working with local businesses and industry leaders, UofGH will commit to being major employer, attracting talent to the city and employing residents. In this regard UofGH has built strong connections with several local employers to ensure the local economy has the talent it needs to drive innovation and economic growth while providing students with the skills they need to be successful in the future.

We at BGC Peel (formerly Boys & Girls Club of Peel) support the potential relocation of UofGH to the City of Brampton and urge the city and council to work with UofGH to make this possibility a reality.

This is a once in a life time opportunity to add UofGH, complementing our educational institutions and make Brampton the Educational Hub of Canada for the residents, businesses, and organizations that build up our city.

Please do not hesitate to contact me should you have questions.

Sincerely,
