

Do you own a tow truck company or drive a tow truck?

Do you operate a vehicle storage company?

- ❖ To improve safety for people needing a tow and those working in the towing industry, the province of Ontario is introducing a certification program for tow operators, tow truck drivers and vehicle storage operators.
- ❖ You will be able to apply to get certified through a user-friendly online application.
- ❖ To encourage registration, there will be no fees charged until July 1, 2024, for all certificate types. Tow drivers who apply early will have an additional three years to complete the required training (training must be completed for certificate renewal, which is required three years after certification).
- ❖ Visit Ontario.ca/towstoragecertificate to learn more about application requirements and your responsibilities.
- ❖ Certification will become mandatory on January 1, 2024, for operators and on July 1, 2024, for tow drivers; apply early to avoid delays.
